Preliminary Q1 Results Surprise to the Upside

Shelly reported a strong start to the year with preliminary Q1 figures, delivering revenue growth above our expectations in what was anticipated to be a more challenging quarter. In addition, the company further strengthened its cash position, underlining the improving financial profile.

Shelly Group SE - Q1 2026	Q1/26	Q1/26e	Q1/25	yoy
Revenue	33,4	32,3	26,5	+26,0%
Cash	19,9	-	16,7	+19,2%

source: company, Montega

Top line development better than expected despite timing effects: Revenue in Q1 reached EUR 33.4m, slightly above our estimate (MONE: EUR 32.3m), corresponding to a growth rate of 26.0% yoy. This performance is particularly noteworthy given the previously communicated timing effects related to product launches. As a reminder, several key new products were delayed by a few months, leading to a stronger focus on selling existing product lines to distributors in Q4 2025. This resulted in temporarily elevated inventory levels at distributors, which we had expected to weigh on order activity in Q1. Against this backdrop, the reported growth exceeds expectations and supports our view that underlying demand remains strong. We continue to expect a further acceleration in growth momentum over the course of the year as new product launches gain traction.

Improved cash position and focus on working capital: Shelly reported a noticeable increase in its cash position, primarily driven by improved accounts payable. At the same time, management has initiated measures to address the elevated level of trade receivables, which had been a key concern among investors following the year-end figures. According to the company, receivables are expected to normalize over the coming quarters. A successful reduction in receivables would have a particularly positive impact on free cash flow generation. For FY26, we currently forecast a free cash flow of EUR 19.7m, which still assumes a moderate increase in receivables, albeit below the revenue growth rate.

SDAX inclusion enhances visibility and liquidity: Since April 10, Shelly has been included in the SDAX, marking the first listing of a Bulgarian company in the index. This milestone reflects the company's strong operational development in recent years and the increasing relevance of the stock in the capital markets. The index inclusion should further improve trading liquidity and enhance visibility among institutional investors.

Conclusion: Overall, the Q1 figures provide a positive signal, demonstrating resilient demand despite temporary headwinds from product timing effects. Combined with the improving cash profile and increased capital market visibility, we see Shelly well positioned to deliver accelerating growth over the remainder of the year and reaffirm our buy rating and price target of EUR 79.00.

Company Background

Shelly Group is a Societas Europaea (SE) headquartered in Sofia, which is specialized in the development and distribution of products from the smart home sector.

The smart home products are sold under the „Shelly“ brand. Alongside plug-and-play solutions and sensors, the portfolio mainly includes relays which are installed hidden behind the socket or switch, and which can be directly controlled via a Wi-Fi connection or Bluetooth. The company differs essentially from many other providers (Philips Hue, Tado or Fibaro amongst others), whose product often can only be controlled via a hub/bridge within their own ecosystem. Furthermore, the products can be combined with other smart home applications and are in the entry-level price segment with a starting price of less than EUR 20. In addition to smart home products, the product portfolio also includes smartwatches specifically for children as well as tracking devices, for instance for baggage, pets, or health care data.

Products

The Shelly Group's product portfolio spans from various smart home products and smartwatches specifically for children to monitoring and tracking products. Smart home products account for the lion's share (> 95%) of group's revenues and thus are at the center of the company's equity story.

Source: Company data

The smart home products are sold and distributed under the "Shelly" brand. Relays build the basis of these products. They allow for remote control of lights, electric devices, or sensors. These relays are connected to the power supply behind a socket or a switch and can be controlled through Wi-Fi via the Shelly app or one of many different providers from the IoT sector (Amazon Alexa, Google Home, SmartThings, Home Assistant etc.) entirely without additional hub. Besides controlling the devices in case of need, Shelly also allows for establishing routines (e.g. retracting the awning in the event of storm warnings) and monitoring energy consumption. Because of the Wi-Fi standard used, the relays can be combined with other smart home devices with Wi-Fi standard without any problems.

In addition to the traditional relays, which people can easily install in their own home, the Shelly brand also offers products within their Pro line for an installation in the fuse box. The Pro products can be controlled both via Wi-Fi and LAN and thus are more secure and reliable. Consequently, the Shelly Pro line is often also installed in office buildings, retail stores or production sites. We believe it is also of major interest for B2B customers (such as electricians). The Plus line introduced a new generation of Shelly relays, which are characterized by newer technology (processor, W-Fi and Bluetooth module) and a slightly smaller design.

Alongside the relays, which are not visible after their installation, Shelly Group also offers various plug-and-play products. The assortment includes the Shelly Plug (WiFi socket), the Shelly Bulb (smart bulb), the Shelly Button (programmable Wi-Fi button) and the Shelly TRV (WiFi heating thermostat). Additionally, the Shelly product portfolio provides various detectors and sensors (motion detectors, temperature and humidity sensors, smoke detectors as well as door and window sensors).

Most of Shelly Group's products are developed in Sofia. The key parts of the raw materials – most notably chips – are procured by the company itself and made available to the suppliers in Asia. Procurement is almost exclusively done in China among a couple of core suppliers (Top 5 suppliers > 90% of material expenses). The group always strives to be the largest customer of every supplier to have a good bargaining position. As the products have a very low pack size, they are shipped by air and sea freight. The share of sea freight is planned to be significantly increased to continue to lower ancillary costs of procurement.

Markets and sales

The company does not provide segment reporting pursuant to IFRS 8 so far. The 2023 Annual Report is based on a regional segment analysis as primary segment.

Shelly Group generates the largest portion of revenues in the DACH region (49%). In further European countries, the group most recently generated a sales share of around 43.7%. The rest of the world (RoW) accounts for further 7.3%. The company still sees significant growth potential in all the regions. Due to the success of actions made to optimize revenues in the DACH region, local sales teams are also being set up in further markets. The North American market is a key growth region in the RoW sector, which has hardly been developed so far. According to the company, in addition to the progress made recently inorganic growth may also be an option here to accelerate the development of the market.

ESG positioning

In line with the product portfolio, which includes a broad variety of products for energy metering and energy conservation, the company also pursues ambitious ESG goals. Amongst others, this includes the conversion to 100% renewable energy and the reduction of energy consumption by 70% by 2030 at the latest. Furthermore, the Shelly Group aims to establish more diversity at management level and to provide a concerted work-life balance for the employees. The table below summarizes the ESG goals.
